

Mercola Donates 22 Units of Blood in Company-Wide Drive with Lee Health

Employee donations will benefit 44 local patients in need

CAPE CORAL, Fla. (Sept. 16, 2022) – In a continued effort to show and encourage support for the Southwest Florida community, Mercola held a mobile blood drive with the Lee Health Blood Center and donated 22 units of blood to benefit local patients in need. With each unit potentially saving two lives, 44 people will be given a second chance with the team’s donations.

“This was another great opportunity for us to come together and support the community in a big way,” says Steve Rye, CEO of Mercola. “Our donations will definitely impact the lives of others, but they will also continue to leave a lasting impact on our team as well.”

This is Mercola’s second blood drive of the year, and the company plans to host a few drives each year to benefit lifesaving organizations, like the Lee Health Blood Center. Details on the next drive will be available in the coming months for the public to also donate alongside the Mercola team.
