Dr. Mercola's Artisan Cacao Nibs are a crunchy sweet snack packed with antioxidants and flavor.

Hoffman Estates, IL (PRWEB) April 24, 2014 – Dr. Mercola is putting an end to the days of mundane and preservative-laced chocolate treats, thanks to the introduction of Dr. Mercola's Artisan Cacao Nibs.

These cacao nibs combine the nutritional benefits of chocolate and whey, have no added sugar, alcohol, or soy, and contain no fructose. This deliciously smart chocolate snack is dipped in a unique combination of real milk chocolate and whey protein, made with cacao beans and combined with GMO-free whey from pasture-raised cows.

Dr. Mercola opted to use the cocoa beans from the exceptionally rare Criollo tree, often referred to as the "King of Cacao." This tree is grown in the lush South American rainforest. Cocoa beans from these trees represent a mere 1% of world chocolate production and are considered a highly prized treat. More importantly, these beans produce a taste with a very sweet and delicate essence, and a multidimensional array of flavors.

Dr. Mercola's Artisan Cacao Nibs can be enjoyed in a homemade trail mix, on top of yoghurt, in a smoothie or protein shake, or they can be eaten straight from the bag.

Mercola.com offers a variety of unique natural health products, many not available anywhere else, which have been actively researched and independently tested.
