

Mercola Introduces Revolutionary New Line of Digestive Enzymes

*Scientifically formulated with a large breadth of enzymes and ATP to quickly digest foods

Hoffman Estates, IL, April 4, 2018 – Always on the leading edge of natural health and medicine, Dr. Joseph Mercola has developed a new line of Full Spectrum Digestive Enzymes to help digest food.

Utilizing scientific research on enzyme deficiencies and USDA data for the general population, these breakthrough formulas are designed for what people actually eat, and includes an appropriate allowance for enzyme deficiencies and loss of enzymes due to age to ensure effective digestion without waste.*

The line includes 6 new products that are formulated with up to 22 enzymes (most on today's market have much fewer) plus ATP, or adenosine 5'-triphosphate, which is believed to also be a signaling molecule to start the digestive process.

- All-Vegan Full Spectrum Enzymes contains a very broad range of enzymes derived from plant, bacterial and fungal sources to help digest different types of foods, and to digest them quickly:*
- Full Spectrum Enzymes for Women is formulated for women's unique digestive needs, reflecting women's common preferences for less protein and more vegetables in their diet.
- Dairy Enzymes aids in the speedy and complete digestion of not just lactose, but also casein and whey proteins, to help relieve the occasional bloating, gas and intestinal discomfort associated with milk components.*
- Gluten Enzymes are designed to aid in the quick and complete breakdown of gluten protein as well as carbohydrates commonly surrounding gluten to support the healthy digestion of wheat, barley, and rye grains, as well as the hidden sources of gluten.
- Ketozyme aids in the digestion of fats, especially the higher levels consumed by those on Ketogenic Diets.
- Gallbladder Enzymes are designed for assisting digestion for those who have had their gallbladders removed. Packed in a Delayed Release capsule to help protect these animal-based enzymes from stomach acid.

"You spend good money for high quality whole food to reap valuable nutritional benefits", Mercola stated. "Yet, without the right digestive enzymes, you may not be getting your money's worth."

Taking these enzymes may be good insurance for proper digestion of any meal. Visit shop.mercola.com to see this new exciting line of products.
